

The Little Star and the Brave Boy

Once upon a time, in a small village, there lived a boy named Arjun.
Arjun loved to look at the night sky.
Every night, he waved at the stars and whispered, "Goodnight, friends!"

One evening, a tiny star twinkled brighter than the others.
"Hello, Arjun!" the star whispered.
Arjun rubbed his eyes. "Did you just talk?"
"Yes!" said the star. "My name is Twink."

Twink was sad. "I have fallen from the sky. I don't know how to go back."
Arjun smiled. "Don't worry, Twink. I'll help you!"

The next morning, Arjun packed his backpack.
He put in a ladder, a balloon, and a sandwich.
"Let's try!" he said.

First, Arjun used the ladder.
He climbed and climbed... but the sky was too far.
Next, he tied the balloon to Twink.
The balloon floated, but only a little.

Twink looked worried. "What now?"
Arjun thought hard. "Maybe the birds can help!"
He called his bird friends—sparrows, pigeons, and parrots.
They chirped, "We'll carry Twink!"

Together, the birds lifted Twink gently.
Higher and higher they flew.
Arjun waved from below. "Goodbye, Twink! Shine bright!"

At last, Twink reached the sky.
He twinkled happily. "Thank you, Arjun!"

That night, Arjun looked up.
Twink sparkled extra bright, just for him.
Whenever Arjun felt lonely, Twink winked down.
It was their secret friendship forever.

And so, the boy and the star remained best friends,
One on the Earth,
One in the sky,
But always together in heart.

The End.